Our association with EdHOLA is a perfect story of how a chance meeting with someone can turn into a life changing moment. I happened to meet Vipul Mehta for the first time quite by accident, in connection with JEE preparation for my younger son and during our conversation discovered that he was at the helm of a company that helped students, aspiring to go abroad for higher studies, realize their dream. My elder son - Dhruv was preparing for GRE at that time and I immediately requested for a meeting with him. Dhruv and I met Chandrika and Vipul in July 2018 over a cup of steaming coffee at Cafe Coffee Day. The rest, as they say, is history !!!

The last 9 months from July 2018 to March 2019 have been absolutely transformative in Dhruv's life. Admissions for M.S. at Harvard, Johns Hopkins, Univ. of North Carolina, Duke University are a dream-come-true for him but to me equally important was the process and the grind EdHOLA took him through. Right from selection of Universities to preparing the Statement of Purpose (SOP) to filling up online admission/application forms to preparing for interviews — it's been a tremendous journey, and a great learning platform!! EdHOLA is a wonderfully orchestrated machine, ably led by Vipul and Chandrika and supported by Madhur, Vicky and others. Each one brings a distinct value proposition and together the EdHOLA team manages to transform the child during this journey to a self-assured, confident and "ready to face the world" adult !!

Hats off to this wonderful, passionate bunch of people for their commitment and personal involvement. They have become a part of our lives ~~now~~ and dinner table conversations now !!! 😊
